Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum-The Udvar-Hazy Center
“Windshield” Tour only of D.C. Monuments and Capital Area
Arlington National Cemetery

WAIT LIST ONLY!

The Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center, also call the Udvar-Hazy Center is the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum (NASM)'s annex at Washington Dulles International Airport in the Chantilly area of Fairfax County, Virginia. This facility encompassing over 760,000 square feet offers up close access to the world's most important aviation treasures—including the Space Shuttle Discovery and the Enola Gay aircraft. With a blend of gently sloped walkways, viewing areas, conveniently located elevators, food court, and well versed guides, the Udvar-Hazy offers an once-in-a-lifetime experience. Have your ever touched a wheel of an actual space shuttle?

From the Udvar-Hazy, the tour continues by providing a “Windshield Tour” of the Washington, D.C. Capital Building Mall area. Although not making any stops during this segment of the tour, the coach will drive through this area providing many views of the most recognized monuments in U.S. history.

Arlington National Cemetery is the next stop. Here, at the most renowned cemetery in the world, your choices include a leisurely stroll through the sacred grounds or purchasing a ticket for the narrated open air tram. Either way, viewing historical markers from this nation's wars and conflicts to the final resting place of the Kennedys, this emotional tour will be most elevated by an opportunity to witness one of the most sacred customs of the United States Military at the Tomb of the Unknown Solider. The ceremonial Changing of the Guard that occurs every 30 minutes in the spring and summer, once an hour during the winter months, every 2 hours during the times Arlington Cemetery is closed to the public. Since 1937, this Tomb has been guarded 365 days a year, every minute of every day.

This Tour is a sell-out. A potential second tour may be offered if there is enough interest. Sign up for the wait list by June 15. Tour will require 45 reservations.
